VACCINATION ADVISED IN MOST CASES.

The state board of health has issued a bulletin on smallpox in which it gives some valuable information on this dreaded disease. Some of the information given is as follows:

Children should be vaccinated before they are four months old; those who have never been vaccinated should be vaccinated at once. Because the vaccination often loses its protective power after a time, those who have been vaccinated but once or twice should, in order to test and to increase the protective power of the former vaccination, be vaccinated again and as often as the vaccination can be made to work. In general, to insure full protection from smallpox, one should be vaccinated as often as every five years. It has been found that of those who have smallpox the proportion of deaths is very much less among those who have three or four good vaccination scars than among those who have but one scar.

Those whom the board declare should not be vaccinated unless exposure to smallpox is believed to have taken place are teething children, persons suffering from measles, scarlet fever, erysipelas, skin disease or eruptions and those in poor health.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT.

The finest entertainment given by local talent for a long time past, was given at the Third Reformed church last Friday night. It was called a harvest festival and was given by the young people of the church, the musical part of it being under the direction of John Vander Sluis. A chorus of about fifty voices had been long and carefully drilled by Mr. Vander Sluis in such selections as Shelley's "Harvest Song," Tannhauser's "Hall, Bright Abode," Cowen's "Bridal Chorus," and Sullivan's "The Lost Chord." Then there were solos by Miss Anna Sprietsma, with violin obligato by Peter Notter; a duet by Miss Margaret De Vries and Henry Kleyn; a mandolin trio by P. Notter, B. Du Mez and H. Cook; violin duet by C. Klaasen and H. Cook; a beautiful solo by Miss Amy Dosker; a ladies' chorus and a male chorus and organ voluntary by Miss Hanna Te Roller. The spacious church was packed to the doors and many were turned away. Rev. G. H. Dubbink lead in prayer, after which the large audience listened to as fine a program as has ever been presented here. Mrs. George E. Kollen and W. E. Vander Hart gave some fine readings. The entertainment will long be remembered by those who heard it. Mr. Vander Sluis deserves credit for his untiring efforts to make it the success that it was. Those who took part in the chorus are:

Sopranos—The Misses Anne Beekman, Dena Cotts, Margaret De Vries, Sena De Vries, Matilda De Feyter, Minnie De Feyter, Amy Dosker, Bertha Dalman, Kate Prakken, Mamie Riedsma, Anna Sprietsma, Mary Van Dyke, Kate M. Zwemer, Mrs. J. Vander Sluis.

NO SMOKE, NO SOOT.

The Holland Sugar Co. has installed a system of smoke preventers whereby the nuisance of smoke and soot is done away with. It also saves a large percentage of the fuel. This will be greatly appreciated by the residents in the west part of the city who complained greatly on account of the smoke and soot from the smokestacks. It would be well to have other manufacturers follow.

His Grace.

Bishop Willberforce used to tell a story of a greedy clergyman who when asked to say grace looked anxiously to see if there were champagne glasses on the table. If there were, he began, "Bountiful Jehovah!" But if he saw only claret glasses he said, "We are not worthy of the least of thy mercies."

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

In planting the orchard care should be taken to allow each tree plenty of room.

A layer of charcoal in the bottom of a flower bed is very beneficial in keeping the soil fresh.

In plowing in the orchard always turn the furrow toward the tree, and be careful not to injure the fine, fibrous roots.

The life of an apple tree is often shortened because it grows in a poor, exhausted soil or one not properly drained.

When ill or ailing, handle the flowers little or wear gloves. Delicate plants are sensitive to human magnetism, good or bad.

The roots of the strawberry often reach out five feet from the main stem; hence the plants should not be set too thickly.

An apple or cherry tree is much more valuable if it shoots out low. Trim from the top, as this will cause the lower branches to grow out.

Land that has been too rough for plowing may yet be sufficiently fertile to grow fruit trees and is better than land that has been exhausted by cropping.

CARIBOU MURDER.

The Newfoundland Fishermen Kill Hundreds For Salted.

Newfoundland is probably the only country in the world where venison, salted or fresh, is a staple article of diet for the masses.

The coast folk make their plans with method and deliberation.

From the harbors where they reside they go in their boats to the rivers and floods which strike into the interior.

When navigation is no longer possible, they embark and continue on foot to the deer country. They carry barrels filled with salt and sometimes go in large companies. When the rendezvous is reached, they camp. They ambush themselves along a promising "lead" or deer track, armed with long six foot muzzle loading sealing guns, which they charge with about "eight fingers" of coarse gunpowder and "slugs" of lead, fragments of iron or bits of rusty nails, whichever they may have. They fire point blank into a herd of caribou as it passes and, being usually good shots, contrive to kill almost anything they aim at or to wound it so badly with these dreadful missiles that it soon collapses. Then they skin and cut up the meat, for these men know a little of every trade, and pack it in the barrels, with the salt as a preservative.

U. M. W. RECOGNITION

One of the First Things President Mitchell Strikes for Before the Commission.

DEMANDS IT IN HIS OPENING

Miners' Leader the Chief Figure of the Day's Inquiry.

Tells Over Again in the Form of Statement and Testimony the Case of the Strikers—Salient Features.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 15.—The anthracite coal strike commission yesterday began the hearing of testimony by which it will determine whether or not the workmen are receiving fair and just wages for their labor and whether their conditions should be improved. The star witness for the miners—President John Mitchell—took the stand in the afternoon and when the commission adjourned at 4 p. m. he was still under the fire of cross-examination by David W. Wilcox, general counsel of the Delaware and Hudson company. It was a trying day for the miners' leader, but he seemed to stand the test well.

Notable Day for the Region.

The opening of the sessions was a notable day in the annals of the law in the upper anthracite region. Such an array of lawyers has never been seen in this part of the state. In addition there was a large number of members of the bar present who came to merely look on. The court room at both sessions was packed almost to suffocation, and scores of persons were unable to gain admittance. Only one of the heads of the large coal companies, Chairman Thomas, of the Erie, was present. There were among the spectators quite a large number of general superintendents and district and mine superintendents, all of whom took a deep interest in the proceedings and some of them frequently made notes.

Status of the Non-Union Men.

One of the questions which came up before the commission was the advisability of hearing counsel on behalf of the non-union men who remained at work during the strike. Attorney John T. Lenahan, one of the attorneys for the non-union men, asked the commission what his status before the arbitrators was. Judge Gray informed him the question would be taken under consideration, and that an answer would probably be given him today. Mitchell, before taking the witness stand, presented the miners' side of the case in a 6,000-word statement.

MITCHELL'S OPENING STATEMENT

He Brings Up Recognition of the U. M. W. Very Distinctly.

Mitchell's statement was a repetition of the arguments he has heretofore used in supporting the strike—that the work was not sufficiently remunerative; that it was more dangerous than similar work; that the pay system is dishonest—the pay by the car instead of the legal ton; that eight hours is the standard day's work in mines. In the matter of comparative wages Mitchell named the bituminous coal miners and the miners in silver, gold, copper and iron mines as men who got better wages for similar and less hazardous work.

The recognition of the U. M. W. is the most interesting question before the commission, principally because the proposition made by the operators upon which the commission is founded absolutely shuts out the U. M. W. and requires the investigation to be one purely between the men in each mine and their employers. But Mitchell ignored this in his opening and said: "We demand recognition because we know that permanent peace and friendly relations can be best maintained through a trade agreement with the organization which our people have elected to join. Fully 90 per cent. of the employees of the anthracite coal mines are members of it from choice, they desire to retain their membership and they desire to retain their membership in it."

"It was the United Mine Workers of America that conferred with the president of the United States in relation to the submission of the issues involved in the coal strike to this commission; it was the United Mine Workers of America that was requested by the president to end the strike; it was the United Mine Workers that sent the men back to work, and it is the United Mine Workers of America that pledged to accept the award of this commission."

In closing Mitchell outlined an agreement between the U. M. W. and the operators covering the anthracite mines. During the hearing the statement was brought out for the first time since the late strike had disbursed $1,500,000 among the union and non-union men who were on strike.

President's Son Is Better.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Further examination of young Theodore Roosevelt's eyes proves that there is nothing more seriously wrong with them than a slight weakness of the muscles. Surgeon General Rixey expects them to be perfectly strong again within ten days, but the boy may not return to school at Groton, Mass., until after Thanksgiving.

BUTLER FOUND GUILTY

Millionaire St. Louis Politician Sentenced to Three Years in the State Penitentiary for Bribery.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 15.—Colonel Ed Butler, millionaire and politician of St. Louis, on trial charged with attempting to bribe Dr. Chapman of the St. Louis board of health, in order to influence his vote on the endorsement of a garbage contract with the city, has been found guilty by the jury, which assessed the punishment at three years in the penitentiary.

When asked by Judge Hockaday if he had any reason to offer why sentence should not be passed on him, Butler said: "I have nothing to say, your honor, further than that I am not guilty of the charge preferred against me."

"The jury has passed on that question, Mr. Butler," was Judge Hockaday's reply. "In accordance with the verdict I sentence you to imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a term of three years."

The filing of an appeal to the state supreme court followed. Judge Hockaday fixed Butler's bond at $10,000, which was signed by a number of prominent citizens of Columbia.

TOOK A SHOT AT LEOPOLD

Italian Anarchists Try to Kill the King of the Belgians—Culprit Is Arrested.

Brussels, Nov. 17.—As King Leopold was driving to church Saturday morning to attend a Te Deum in memory of his late queen he was fired at twice by an Italian, whose name later was found to be Rubino. He was immediately arrested and saved by the police from the mob which would have lynched him instantly. The king was uninjured, and no other person was hurt; one of the bullets passing uncomfortably close to an attendant, however.

Brussels, Nov. 18.—James Keir Hardie, member of parliament, the former chairman of the independent labor party, and well-known labor leader, was arrested by the police here yesterday on suspicion of having been connected with the attempt made Saturday by Genero Rubino to assassinate King Leopold.

At the time of his arrest Hardie's identity was unknown to the authorities. He was subsequently released, and lodged a complaint at the British legation.

TRAGEDY AT STUDENTS' CLUB

Madison Man Kills a Steward, Shoots at Wife and Ends Own Life—Was an Ex-Confederate.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 18.—In a race because the money paid by a student boarding club was not given to him instead of his wife, John Davenport, whose home is headquarters for the Davenport club, composed of student boarders, shot Carl Olmquist, steward of the club, shot at his wife, but missed her, and then put a bullet through his own brain, dying almost instantly. Olmquist was shot through the side near the heart, and later died from the wounds. His home was in Charles City, Ia., and he entered the state university this year, being a freshman engineer. Davenport was an ex-Confederate soldier. He came to Madison during the Peck administration and was fireman at the capitol. A few years ago he attempted the life of Registrar Hestand of the university because the latter interfered when he was beating his wife, and stood off four policemen who came after him, but was finally arrested. He was 59 years old.

Robbed of the Payroll.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—John Anderson, a clerk in the office of Michael Rold, 235 Cherry avenue, looked up from the payroll upon which he was working to gaze into the muzzles of four revolvers. Two men, who had entered quietly, then proceeded to rob the place. The robbers secured $1,000 in currency, with which Rold's employees were to have been paid, and an equal amount in checks.

Mrs. Molineux Seeks Divorce.

St. Louis, S. D., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Roland B. Molineux, whose husband was last week acquitted of murder after two sensational trials, has arrived here and will seek to procure a divorce on statutory grounds. She has taken apartments at the Cataract hotel for six months, the time necessary to procure a residence in this state sufficient for divorce proceedings.

Aged Woman Burned to Death.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Josephine Threlia, 74 years old, was burned to death in the kitchen of her home, 223 West Polk street. She was helpless, and died without making a cry loud enough to be heard on the street. Her son left the house early in the morning for his work. It is believed that while moving about the kitchen range Mrs. Threlia's dress caught fire.

Secretary Wilson Is Better.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Secretary Wilson, who has been confined to his residence since his return from campaign work in the west, is rapidly recovering and will be able to resume his duties at the agricultural department in a day or two. The secretary overtaxed his strength, and came home quite exhausted.

Cyclone Hits a Part of Texas.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 18.—Reports received here state that a cyclone swept over the country north of Terrell, devastating farm property for a distance of several miles. Six persons are reported injured, two of them probably fatally.

PACKING PLANT IS NOT

Armour's Million Dollar Concern at Sioux City, Ia., Ashes and Debris.

FLAME FORCE WAS IRRESISTIBLE

Water Had No Effect on the Fierco Conflagration.

Large Amount of Ammonia Explodes, but No One Is Hurt—Loss Estimated at $800,000, Heavily Insured.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 17.—The big plant of Armour & Co., which occupied three and one-half acres of ground at the extreme south end of the stock yards district, was totally destroyed by a fire which started at 12:50 a. m. yesterday on the second floor of the fertilizer building. The loss, estimated by Charles W. Lennon, manager of the company, was $800,000. The cause of the fire was said by Lennon to have been either spontaneous combustion or an imperfect dryer. There is $721,500 of insurance on the Armour property. Six hundred men will be thrown out of employment all winter by the fire.

Six Streams Were No Use.

The fire was discovered by a watchman of the building who only a few minutes before had pulled a messenger box on the floor where the flames started. Quickly the plant's private fire department of six men was called out, and the city department was next. Every fireman in the city was called out. By 1:20 a. m. six streams of water were being thrown on the fire—which was gutting the fertilizer building—but they made no impression. The fertilizer building, which was of brick, 120x90 feet, four stories high, was located between the beef killing house and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, and it went like chaff.

Fire Gets Into the Lard.

At 1:25 a. m. the roof fell, and a second later the fire burst through into the beef killing house. Instantaneously with the catching of the fire in the beef killing house the cattle house ignited and lasted about five minutes, when it fell with a great crash. Once in the beef killing house the flames had their own way. From this house to the oleo building was only a step, and when the lard started to burn the fire presented a most spectacular appearance. The big beef house, where 500 carcasses nearly dressed were hanging, caught at 2 a. m.

By this time the whole plant except the hog house was a lake of fire, and the country for miles around was lighted up.

EXPLOSION OF THE AMMONIA

Twenty-Four Drums and Then a Cistern Make the Plant a Heap of Ruins.

Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, followed quickly by another, and then another.

"Those are the ammonia drums," shouted Lennon to Fire Chief Kellogg. "Tell your men to be careful. There is danger of suffocation." Twenty-four drums of 100 pounds of ammonia each exploded before the reserve supply in the ammonia cistern was reached. That ignition almost razed the entire plant from its foundation. At 2:30 a. m. the flames burst through the heavy fire wall which separated the big hog house from the other buildings.

Steadily the fire crept against the wind and through the office building, which was now in flames. Not a scrap of paper of any kind was saved out of the office. About this time a burning roof fell upon a bunch of live hogs, and their squeals were terrible. When the hog house caught all streams were turned in that direction, but the water seemed like oil. In the building were 3,500 dressed hogs and 2,500,000 pounds of pork product. After the fire got a good headway in the hog house all hope of saving any part of the plant was abandoned. The shops, chicken packing plant, ice houses and ice runways and smaller department houses were consumed in quick succession.

From a spectacular view this fire was one of the most splendid sights witnessed. The fire continued to burn all day Sunday, and Sunday afternoon there was another terrific explosion, which threw bricks and pieces of iron hundreds of yards, but hurt no one severely.

Prince Dies in London.

London, Nov. 18.—Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar is dead here. He was attacked by appendicitis and succumbed to congestion of the kidneys, with which the original malady became complicated. Prince Edward was born near London Oct. 11, 1823. He was marriedmorganatically in 1851 to Lady Auguste a Cordon-Lennox.

French Count Burned to Death.

Paris, Nov. 18.—Count Frank, who was well known in society here, was burned to death in his bed through an outbreak of fire at his residence, the Chateau des Landis, at Suresnes. It is supposed that he fell asleep while reading and the lamp in some way set fire to the bedding.

Adds a Million to the Pay Roll.

New York, Nov. 17.—The New York Central railroad has recently increased the wages of some 15,000 men in its employ from 8 to 13 per cent. The increase adds nearly $1,000,000 a year to the payroll of the company.

NO MATTER

HOW BAD YOU FEEL

If your system is all run down, if your kidneys are weak, if your liver is torpid, and your system all clogged up with impurities. We have not yet had a case so bad that was not benefited by

Kinyon's Blood AND Kidney Remedy

and out of all the cases we cure 9 out of 10, simply because this remedy gets at the root of the trouble. It regulates the liver and strengthens the kidneys and tones up the whole system. See what Mrs. Nels Hanson of Holland, Mich., says: "I enjoyed good health until about three years ago, when I became troubled with my kidneys. The pain in my back got so bad I could hardly get up, when rheumatism set in, and I was unable to attend to my house work. I was tired out when I got up mornings and felt miserable all day. I did not know what to do. I was all run down and completely worn out. I was advised to use Kinyon's Blood and Kidney Remedy and used two bottles. I have not had a bit of trouble with my kidneys or any sign of rheumatism since. I wish to recommend it to all who are troubled as I was."

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP.

Any person desiring any work done such as repairing sewing machines, locks, guns, umbrellas, or small machinery of any kind, call at John F. Zalsman, in the building formerly occupied by D. DeVries, corner River and Ninth streets, Holland, Mich.

He is an unwise breeder who adopts the rule of judging a young cow's right to live by her performance with her first calf. This is too early for her to have made a definite adjustment of her operative functions, and the man who follows this rule will slaughter some of his best cows in their innocence. Some cows do not show their best capabilities even with their second calves, but if with the third time of motherhood there does not come the right to that high name the man who extends still further grace is a partner in her shortcomings.—W. F. McSpanan in Hoard's Dairyman.

A Fine Holstein.

Malcolm H. Gardner of Darien, Wis., sends to Hoard's Dairyman a picture of his Holstein heifer, Daisy Mercedes Pieterje, of which he says: "Calving at two years, one month and twenty-nine days, she gave during the week of official test 386.6 pounds of milk, containing 12.63 pounds of fat, equivalent to 15 pounds, 13.16 ounces of butter 80 per cent fat, or 14 pounds, 12 1/2 ounces of butter 85-5-7 per cent fat. As I pressed the button the heifer was just getting into position to lick herself, so it is not as good as I would like. This heifer is no sport. I have bred her ancestry on the dam's side for five generations back, and I believe her sire to be the best bull and the best bred bull in the United States."

DAISY MERCEDES PIETERJE.

Need More Cows.

Although the present cow population of Minnesota is 800,000, Dairy Commissioner McConnell insists that the bovine total should be twice that number. When the dairy farmers express the fear that the business will be overdone, he says, they forget that the big tide of emigration which has again set in toward this country will greatly increase the demand for dairy products. It is a fact also, he says, that at least 200,000 cows of the dairy herds of the state are absolutely worthless. That the business is not being overdone, he points out, is shown by the fact that in 1850 the United States had seventy cows to every 1,000 inhabitants, while in 1900 the average number of cows for every 1,000 people was but fifty-seven.

Cows in Kansas.

The number of milk cows in Kansas is approximately the same as of horses, being a little over 800,000, and their value a year ago last spring was estimated at over $25,000,000.

Drying Off Persistent Milkers.

Whether persistent milkers should be dried off for a certain time before they freshen or not is a question that all will not agree upon, says an exchange. But where it is a settled policy to do so, then extreme caution in some cases must be practiced, or injury will be done to the cow's udder. When the time comes to dry the cow off, it will not do to simply stop milking her. If this is done, inflammation will set in, and great harm may result. It is best to milk the cow once a day for a time regularly. Then skip for two milkings, but milk regularly for several days. Then skip three milkings and milk regularly for a few days, when she may be stripped irregularly till quite dry. I have seen cows that would not go dry even with this kind of treatment. If they will not, the only thing to do is to milk them continuously and feed and care for them accordingly.

A Color Test.

The Internal revenue department has issued a circular letter of instructions giving tests by which coloring matter may be detected in oleomargarine. Fuller's earth is prescribed as the test for yellow dyes, which are used extensively in coloring oleomargarine and butter. A pinch of the earth is placed on a saucer and covered with a sample of the melted oil. The presence of any of the aniline dyes will be shown by the mixture turning a rose color. If the oleomargarine has not been artificially colored, the mixture will remain the color of the fuller's earth. For a cottonseed test the butter or oleomargarine is melted and an ounce of benzine is added. If cottonseed oil has been used, a white residue settles to the bottom. The department agrees to analyze any samples sent to Washington and to report upon them.

A Little Fellow's Big Stories.

A Beardstown (Ill.) lad is credited with saying that his father has a very remarkable cow. He said that the cow has a particular fondness for apples and that on one occasion, after she had got into a neighbor's orchard and eaten all the apples she wanted, his mother milked her, churned the milk and got three quarts of good apple butter. On another occasion the cow ate off the tail of an old rooster that roosted in the stall with her, and the next morning, instead of giving milk, she gave a gallon and a half of the finest kind of cocktail.

THE HEN AND HER CARE.

The World Has Moved and Taken the Hen Along With It.

A few years ago we used to think a beam in the top of the barn was good enough for the hen. Never thought of watering them. They could pick up a living around the barn door. But we were surprised enough in those days if we found an egg. The chances to one it was cracked open from "stem to gudgeon" by the frost if we did happen to find one. Now we know this was simply the worst way imaginable to treat the hens. The world has moved and taken the hen along with it.

Profit in Eggs All Winter.

From present indications there will be profit in eggs all winter. It stands us in hand to save all the young pullets out of last spring's hatch and push them ahead as fast as possible. It is the pullet that lays during the cold weather that pays best. The beef trust has done one thing not down on the programme. It has given the farmer very much better prices for his eggs than for several years past. No argument here for the trust, but a big one for the old farm hen. Sell off all the roosters except what you intend to winter now. It is a waste of food material to keep a lot of roosters just for the sake of hearing them crow. The pullets need the room they occupy.

In the Way of Diet.

The question is sometimes asked whether or not oyster shells are essential to the production of eggs. Anybody who has watched his hens very much knows how almost wild they are to get to the bag of shells, especially if they have been deprived of them for a time. The hen knows about as well as any of us what she needs in the way of diet.

Is milk any better for her than water? Eggs are largely albumen. Milk contains albumen; water does not. Put the two together for yourself.

Nest Box and Mite.

No nest box ever patented could woo from the biddies more eggs than an old soap box. They seem to feel as much at home there as anywhere. The smallest mite is big enough to make a hen uncomfortable, and she will not do her best if not comfortable. Our duty is plain.—Ore. Farm Journal.

SUGAR BEET PULP.

Excellent Stock Feed and Some Methods of Keeping It.

Good fresh pulp carefully treated and excluded from the air furnishes a highly appreciated stock food, and it is advisable to use our best efforts to keep it in a wholesome and palatable state. There is no doubt that brick reservoirs, cemented if possible, are the best means of preserving pulp. They prevent the falling of dirt into the pit, permit a ramming down of the pulp and make the exclusion of air possible, but in practice not every one can have the best of everything. Therefore we see an immense amount of pulp turned out by sugar factories stored in ditches or in storage boxes above ground and covered with soil. There is as great difference between these storage boxes as there is between individual farmers.

If the boxes are well made, the soil well beaten down and a good roof covering them, then they may be considered as good as brick reservoirs. If carelessly made, full of holes and hollows and badly covered, then they are useless. Simple boxes in the ground are good or even excellent for this purpose. It has been demonstrated that a simple ditch in the ground can serve the same purpose as a cemented reservoir, provided the soil is adapted to this purpose. The great volume of water in the pulp has many drawbacks in feeding as well as in storing. The cold and watery pulp must be brought up to the blood temperature of the feeding animals. The evaporation of the water through the skin and the lungs is considerably increased by this food. The increased consumption of water also multiplies the volume of blood and thus the work of the internal organs.

Another general objection raised against fresh wet pulp, such as the factories turn out in a pressed or half pressed state, is that the cost of transportation from the factory to the farm is so high that many a farmer cannot avail himself of it simply because he cannot stand the addition of the freight. In this way the advantage of beet growing is lost to many farmers. The idea of drying the pulp and thus removing all drawbacks at one stroke is not new, but practical experiments were not undertaken until later years. The dried residue of the diffusion represents a perfectly dry product which can be easily crushed with the fingers, has a pleasant smell and is of whitish or light gray color. When moistened, it readily takes up water and swells to greater volume, but it does not reach the volume and percentage of water of the wet pulp.—Denver Field and Farm.

One Thing and Another.

The importance of irrigation as a feature of the agricultural development of Colorado is shown by the fact that the irrigated land outside of the Indian reservations amounts to 1,611,271 acres, or 70.9 per cent of the improved farm land.

One thousand pounds of unground corn with stover as roughness will produce on the average 100 pounds of beef and forty pounds of pork on the hogs following the cattle, according to Professor Mumford of Missouri.

Careful experiments show that more than one-third of all the digestible material contained in the entire corn plant is found in the fodder.

We have apparently turned another corner in the sheep business, according to National Stockman. In the future the range promises to be less of a competitor to the farm than it has been in the past two years.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

Telegraphic Reports of Matters of General Interest to Our Readers.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS BY WIRE

Items Prepared with Special Care for the Convenience of Our Own Readers.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 17. — Justice Marsh and his wife were seated in the office at the city hall when it occurred to them that the day was their wedding anniversary, and that in just a half hour the twenty-ninth milestone of their wedded life would be reached. As they were recalling the memories of other years a young couple entered the office. "My name is Arthur Megivern, and we want to get married," was the direct manner in which the young man announced his errand. The blush of Miss Lillie Hart, who hung rather diffidently upon his arm, confirmed the authority for the dual pronoun.

How the Judge Celebrated.

The judge looked at the clock. It was 2:15. "Say, if you wouldn't mind, we'll wait a quarter of an hour. You see it's just twenty-nine years today since we were married, and the hour for our wedding was 2:30. It will be a celebration," was the reply of the justice. The couple readily consented, so that they started their married life with the tolling of the half hour and the officiating justice and his wife saw in their happiness a reflection of their own of twenty-nine years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Megivern reside at Okemos.

Those M. A. C. Recalcitrants.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 17. — Nothing has yet been done toward reinstating the seventeen recently expelled students. The committee of the faculty met, but the student committee did not present themselves. The time which has elapsed since the expulsion makes it impossible for the expelled students to stay with their classes, and most of them have thrown up the sponge. Those who are not now attending other colleges have gone home preparing to wait their time out, or let this end their college days.

Car Ran Itself for awhile.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 17. — Six passengers on a street car were given a wild ride and five of them sustained severe injuries in jumping from it just before it collided with a car bound in the opposite direction. The injuries are not of a dangerous nature. The motorman lost control of his car and it dashed around Franklin avenue curve so fast that great chunks were broken out of the flanges.

MAD DOG ATTACKS CHILDREN

Six Little Ones Feel the Fangs of the Brute, Which Escapes a Policeman's Gun.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 18. — Six small children were bitten by a mad dog Thursday afternoon. Another person is supposed to have been bitten at Carrollton. Francis, the oldest son of Geo. Wirth, 623 North Hamilton street, was the first victim. The dog then proceeded to Court street, where Eddie and Abe Oppenheim were both marked. The young daughter of James McComb, 1412 South Granger street, was badly bitten through both calves, the child being thrown in the ditch by the brute.

A. D. Goodrow's little daughter was protected from the attacks of the animal by a heavy shawl which covered her head and shoulders and she was not very badly hurt. The sixth victim was the child of Peter Pratt, 167 Greenwich street. Her face was badly lacerated and her ear was bitten off, hanging only by a thread. Both arms and legs were also badly bitten. An officer pursued the mad dog, attempting to shoot it, but it escaped in the darkness.

Found a Skeleton in the Woods.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 18. — A hunter has sent word to the authorities here that he had run across a skeleton in the woods in the Big Bay district and that a rope fastened to a tree was still supporting the neck and head. It is believed the bones are those of Geo. Pryor, a lighthouse keeper, who disappeared from the Big Bay station a year and a half ago.

Safe Thugs in Hard Luck.

Detroit, Nov. 18. — Safe blowers worked industriously Sunday night in the office at 358-360 River street of George J. Gies, the local representative of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association. They secured nothing, however, for their trouble, there being no money in the safe and there were signs that the explosion hurt one of the thugs.

Killed a Moose with a Pistol.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 18. — D. C. Forbes, of this city, killed a bull moose with a revolver while the animal was charging the man. Forbes was one of a party surveying in the district back of the Canadian Soo, when the bull charged. All the others of the party found trees, and Forbes had to face the music.

Behind in His Accounts.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 18. — Snippe, Jr., bookkeeper for David McGann, proprietor of a wholesale liquor house, shot and instantly killed himself with a revolver in his home on Central avenue. He left a note to his wife stating that he was behind in his accounts. His books are being investigated.

STRENUOUS SHOOTING SEASON

Wealthy Distiller Assaults a Man for Trespassing and Nearly Ends His Life.

Alpena, Mich., Nov. 15. — A warrant was issued Thursday charging Catesby Woodford, a wealthy distiller of Paris, Ky., with assault with intent to do bodily harm upon William Simmons, a farmer of Montmorency county. Woodford is a member of the Turtle Lake Hunting and Fishing club and sent word for Simmons to come over to the club house.

The man did not keep the appointment. The next evening he appeared and Woodford charged him with trespassing. This Simmons denied, whereupon Woodford is alleged to have struck him to the floor with his gun and kicked him into insensibility. Simmons is now in a critical condition, not yet having regained consciousness.

Davidsburg, Mich., Nov. 15. — Thomas Line, aged 25 years, as shot in the ankle while hunting ducks on White lake by Charles Barrett, of Rose. Amputation may be necessary.

NEWS FROM THE HUNTING FIELD

That Is Part of It, All That Had Arrived at This Writing—Brief Particulars.

Crossville, Mich., Nov. 17. — Merritt Lewis, aged 19, was shot through the head in the woods while hunting deer, by his uncle, Frank Lewis. The victim was taken for a deer. It is feared he will die. Lewis says that they became separated in the woods, and when he fired he was positive he was shooting at a deer.

Utica, Mich., Nov. 17. — Fred Miller went hunting with two others Thursday. He attempted to light his pipe while sitting on a fence. The gun slipped and was discharged, Miller receiving the charge in his right shoulder and arm.

Eaton Rapids, Mich., Nov. 17. — William Clogg while hunting dragged his gun after him. It was discharged, part of his hand being blown off and one leg probably destroyed.

Uncle Sam Is Slow Pay.

Allegan, Mich., Nov. 17. — A Michigan man waited forty years for Uncle Sam to pay a debt and he has just been paid. During the war of the rebellion Thomas E. Streeter, of Allegan, was a soldier in the army, stationed at Iuka, Miss. Suddenly a portion of Sherman's army came along and cleaned out his store and Streeter claimed $7,000 from the government. He has just been awarded $5,890, which includes the interest for all that time.

Hunters and Their Targets.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 14. — Henry Sheldice, a Republic landowner, was returning on horseback from the woods and when a mile from town his horse was shot from under him and killed instantly. Logging Contractor Duquette had a horse worth $250 shot. Both cases were mistakes of hunters. At Assego A. S. Myers mistook Hank Sheldice's white horse for a wolf and fired, the ball striking the animal's head but not with fatal result.

Family Dog Went with Her.

Lapeer, Mich., Nov. 15. — Mrs. George Smith, wife of a well-known business man of this city, became violently insane, and it was decided to commit her to Pontiac asylum. The first papers were made out Thursday. That evening Mrs. Smith, unnoticed, left the house clad only in a wrapper and stocking feet, and has not been seen since. A posse was out all night searching. The family dog accompanied her.

Body Under a Brush Pile.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 15. — The body of John Erickson, who disappeared last May, has been found by a hunter under a brush pile two miles from town. There was a bullet hole in the head and he had been robbed. Nels Erickson, the dead man's son, has been arrested for the murder. The gun found near the body was identified as belonging to the son.

Vein of Coal Near Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 14. — A report that a rich vein of soft coal had been discovered in Livonia township, fifteen miles northwest from the city, was brought in by Jury Commissioner Hunt. The discovery, Hunt said, was made on the farm of Daniel Blue. Farmer Blue was boring for water and struck the vein of coal at a distance of eighty feet underground.

Boomed the Town with a Lottery.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 17. — Postmaster Emory C. Herenden, of Baldwin, Mich., and H. C. Miller, of Chicago, were fined $200 each in the federal court for carrying on a lottery. They had a scheme to sell town lots at Baldwin by lottery and the authorities interfered. Miller pleaded guilty and Herenden was convicted on trial.

Bullet Wound in His Head.

Whittemore, Mich., Nov. 14. — Ed. Thomas, the young son of Charles Thomas, lies unconscious as the result of a bullet wound, and may die. While he and another boy were handling a 32-caliber revolver, the weapon was discharged, the ball striking young Thomas near the temple.

Arrested on an Infamous Charge.

Howell, Mich., Nov. 18. — Charles Bunting, a farmer of Tyrone township, has been arrested by Sheriff Finley charged with attempted criminal assault on Edith Pitts, of the same place. Bunting is 27 years of age and married. His alleged victim is 14 years old.

Accidentally Killed Himself.

Prescott, Mich., Nov. 18. — Zeno Whiting, postmaster of Maple Ridge, accidentally shot himself in the body. He died instantly. He was 55 years old and leaves a widow and six children.

Make Every Day Count.

The man who starts out in the morning with a determination to do something during the day that will amount to something, that will be distinctive, that will have individuality, that will give him satisfaction at night, is a great deal more likely not to waste his day in frivolous, unproductive work than the man who starts out with no plan.

Begin every day, therefore, with a programme, and determine that, let what will come, you will carry it out as closely as possible. Follow this up persistently, day after day, and you will be surprised at the result.

Make up your mind, at the very outset of the day, that you will accomplish something that will amount to something, that you will not allow callers to chip away your time, and that you will not permit the little annoyances of your business to spoil your day's work. Make up your mind that you will be larger than the trifles which cripple and cramp mediocre lives, and that you will rise above petty annoyances and interruptions and carry out your plans in a large and commanding way.

Make every day of your life count for something, make it tell in the grand results, not merely as an added day, but as an added day with something worthy achieved.—O. S. Marden, in December "Success."

TREED BY WOLVES.

Houghton, Nov. 18.—Lost and treed by a pack of wolves E. C. Goodrich, inspector of the Michigan Telephone company at Houghton, remained two days and nights with nothing to eat near King lake, below Nestoria. He had been hunting with other copper country men and killed a deer at a considerable distance from camp. He started back in the wrong direction and was soon hopelessly lost. At dark he heard some wolves and took to a tree. At dawn Goodrich, the wolves having gone, climbed down, nearly frozen, wandered that day and part of the night and finally struck the railroad track and got his bearings. Friends tried to find him but gave up the search, thinking he had been shot for a deer.

GROCERS FINED.

Kalamazoo, Nov. 18.—William Van Kersen, Thomas J. Sloan, John W. Phillips and Samuel Hoekstra, Kalamazoo grocers, were convicted in the last term of the circuit court on the charge of coloring and selling oleo in violation of the pure food law passed at the last session of the legislature. They carried the case to the supreme court, which sustained the ruling of the circuit court, and yesterday the defendants appeared in court and were sentenced to pay fines. Van Kersen, Sloan and Hoekstra were each fined $50 and costs or 60 days in jail. Phillips was fined $50 and $21 costs, or 60 days in jail. All four paid.

JUDGE RUSSELL'S HUNTING PARTY.

Muskegon, Nov. 18.—Circuit Judge Fred J. Russell has returned from a hunting trip to the northern peninsula in company with several other Hart business men. A total of 17 deer were shot, including one three-legged one. A bear was also captured.

CORRESPONDENCE.

VRIESLAND.

Our town was the scene of a pretty wedding last week Wednesday evening, when Miss Emma De Hoop and Mr. Titus Van Haltema were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. De Hoop. Only immediate relatives were present at the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. G. De Jonge of this place. The room was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums. As the bride party entered the room the "Wedding March," from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss
Nellie Van Noord, niece of the bride.
The bride was tastefully attired in white
Persian silk and carried brides' roses.
The couple were attended by little Della and Lizzie De Hoop, nieces of the bride, dressed in white Persian lawn, who also acted as flower girls, carrying baskets with carnations and smilax. A bountiful supper was served in the dining room, and at 11 p. m. the couple left for their future home, amid showers of rice. A reception was tendered to about 100 young people on Thursday evening at their home, when the marriage preliminaries, accompanied by orchestral music, were again performed. Mr. and Mrs. Van Haltema were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents. Many guests from Grand Rapids, Holland and Zeeland were in attendance. They will be at home to their friends after December 1 at Vriesland.

To the Public.

Allow me to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I had a very severe cough and cold and feared I would get pneumonia, but after taking the second dose of this medicine I felt better, three bottles of it cured my cold and the pains in my chest disappeared entirely. I am most respectfully yours for health, Ralph S.

TO THE PEOPLE OF HOLLAND:—As Michigan agents of Buck's
Stoves and Ranges we will deliver this stove, FREIGHT PREPAID, to Holland, on a payment of $2.00, the balance in monthly payments of $2.00. NO INTEREST.

This stove has larger flues in back and larger radiating space in base than any other base burner made of same size of fire pot. The fire pot is practically perpendicular, which forces the burning of the coal around the edge instead of the center, thereby throwing all the heat to the outside, giving you a fire that requires little or no care after once being filled in the morning.

Fire pot and grates can readily be taken out of the front of stove.

Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by H. Walsh.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Liver troubles that has not been cured—and we also mention their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our bottles free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try a 25 cent bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. HE WAS A PAINTER.

A Drunken Prisoner's Escape in a New York Police Court.

It is characteristic of almost all the prisoners except the drunks that their chief concern is to secure a delay. They plead and beg for an adjournment, which they know will only postpone the inevitable for a day or two, and that although, through their inability to obtain bail, they will have to stay in prison just the same. The most plausible explanation is that they all are fatalists, always hoping that something unexpected may turn up to save off the impending catastrophe. The drunks, on the other hand, are more eager to face the arbiter of their fate, knowing that nothing worse than a fine is likely to befall them and that the sooner it is imposed the sooner it may be paid or served off. And then there is the chance, if the magistrate is in good humor, that they may get away unscathed at once.

As a rule, although not seldom still in their cups, they are loath to make any incriminating admissions. "No, sir," protested a man who kept himself from falling over by holding on nervously to the bar; "I'm not drunk, 'cause no one's drunk who's not falling all over himself." Excuses of the most wonderful kind, some of them really ingenious, others merely ridiculous, are put forward when the fatality of feigning innocence has been discovered. The cleverest explanation of that kind that I ever heard was advanced by a man who, when taxed with having displayed unmistakable signs of intoxication, simply replied that he was a painter by trade.

"That has nothing to do with your condition," said the magistrate. "Of course it has," rejoined the prisoner. "I was painting a barber pole and kept on twisting after the stripes until I got so dizzy that the cop thought I was boozy."—Edward Birkman in Century.

HE WORKED THE BANKER.

How a Clever Merchant Killed Two Birds With One Stone.

Recently a wealthy merchant in Paris who does an extensive business with Japan was informed that a prominent firm in Yokohama had failed, but the name of the firm he could not learn, though he was most anxious to ascertain whether it was the one with which he did most of his business in that city. He could have learned the truth by cabling, but instead he went to the man, a well known banker, who had received the news and requested him to reveal the name of the firm to him.

"That's a very delicate thing to do," replied the banker, "for the news is not official, and if I gave you the name I might incur some responsibility." The merchant argued, but in vain, and finally he made this proposition: "I will give you," he said, "a list of ten firms in Yokohama, and I will ask you to look through it and then to tell me, without mentioning any name, whether or not the name of the firm which has failed appears in it. Surely you will do that for me?"

"Yes," said the banker, "for if I do not mention any name I cannot be held responsible in any way." The list was made. The banker looked through it and as he handed it back to the merchant said, "The name of the firm which has failed is there." "Then I've lost heavily," replied the merchant, "for that is the firm with which I did business," showing him a name on the list.

"But how do you know that is the firm which has failed?" asked the banker in surprise. "Very easily," replied the merchant. "Of the ten names on the list only one is genuine, that of the firm with which I did business. All the others are fictitious."

Two Impossible Men.

Dr. Hauslick once asked Schumann how he got on with Wagner. "Not at all," replied Schumann; "for me Wagner is impossible. Doubtless he is a very clever man, but he talks too fast—one cannot get a word in."

Some time after, in an interview which Hauslick had with Wagner, allusion was made to Schumann. "With Schumann," said Wagner, "it is impossible to arrive at an understanding. He says nothing. Some years ago on my return from Paris I called upon him to talk of operas, concerts, composers and other interesting matters with which I had become acquainted. Schumann looked at me stolidly, or rather he looked into space, without saying a word. Faith, I took leave of him almost immediately. He is an impossible man."

Taking No Chances.

"Do you mean to say that you don't want a railway through Crimmon Gulch?" asked the astonished surveyor. "That's exactly what I mean to say, young fellow," answered Broncho Bob. "Crimmon Gulch got a railroad, didn't it? And they hadn't it two weeks before a couple of men won half the money in camp, got cold feet, took the train and was gone forever and ever. Crimmon Gulch ain't takin' any chances."—Washington Star.

A Rub For Tennyson.

When Alfred Tennyson appeared in the Oxford theater to receive his D. C. L. degree, it is said that his disheveled hair and generally negligent state provoked the undergraduates into greeting him with the inquiry, "Did your mother call you early, call you early, Alfred, dear?"

Better Left Unaided.

Discontented Artist—I wish I had a fortune. I would never paint again. Generous Brother Brush—By Jove, old man, I wish I had one! I'd give it to you!

Talk of The City.

It's Interesting to Our Readers Because it Refers to Holland People.

It is astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street we hear of our people talking about the workings of the "Little Conqueror." Merit and honorable methods receive their just reward. So many cases are cropping up that it is almost impossible to investigate them all, but we have taken a few in hand, and have given them publicity for the benefit of our readers. Our representative obtained the following statement of facts in a personal interview. They are true in every particular and no stronger evidence can be obtained than home endorsement.

Mr. F. Brieve, of 67 West First street, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for ten or twelve years and until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at J. O. Doesburg's drug store I never found a remedy which gave me any effectual relief. I had constant aching pain in my loins and soreness over the kidneys. The kidney secretions became irregular and I suffered from headaches and attacks of dizziness. I took Doan's Kidney Pills but a few days when I felt they were doing me good and I continued their use until the trouble left me entirely."

Just ped on a Ten Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. EUGENE BRITANNY.

A Market Scene in This Quaint French Province.

Brittany is a land where the peasants till the earth in zouave trousers, torador jackets covered with elaborate embroidery and green waistcoats around which run lines of crimson. The women wear short red skirts, great metal collars and cuffs that flutter about their heads like the wings of a butterfly. From beneath the points of their aprons the children gaze at you with wide eyes full of the curiosity of animals.

These people live in houses built of sculptured granite and sleep in open-work closets carved like the incense-burners of Egypt.

In spite of the "Breton Interiors" and "Returns of the Fishermen" with which painters swamp the market this race is still unknown or misunderstood, for they should be seen not in paintings, but in their homes, in their old time streets, on market days and when, in fair time, the tents are pitched in the village market places.

Flery little horses draw to market fish, fine vegetables and all the early produce of Roscoff. They are spread out upon the sidewalk. Chickens cackle; goats bleat; pigs, tied by the leg, strain toward the vegetables, sniffing at the fresh greens.

Farmers in sabots, carrying great blue umbrellas under their arms, with the two ribbons of their felt hats floating down their backs, pick their way among the Dinan china displayed on the ground—capacious soup tureens, cider jugs and plates covered with painted flowers and grotesque figures.

The peasants converse with but few gestures; they bargain in gattered tones. These taciturn people forget themselves in the barrooms on fair days. The taverns are full of noise. You may hear the sound of an accordion and the plaintive note of the Maiton (a sort of bagpipe), leading monotonous dances.

Into the harbor come boats laden with fish; other boats go out. The fishermen are full of business. Next week will occur the departure for the new country. There are women who weep.

Above all this agitation the smoke of the village chimneys mingles with the great white clouds. The quiet sea mirrors the sun.—Artist Castaigne in Century.

LITERARY TREASURES.

Some Which Have Been and Some Which May Be Lost to View.

The world, we have been assured time and again, knows nothing of its greatest men. Perhaps it is equally ignorant about its greatest books. Are we quite sure that the idols in our literary pantheon are arrayed in their due order of precedence? The rules of precedence change, and who shall assert that those prevalent at any given time are the final ones? But, above all, are we quite certain that there may not be a notable work of genius lying unnoticed and unknown amid the wrecks of the river of time, waiting only for some lucky accident that shall reveal it in all its beauty to an astonished world?

Such accidents with such results have been frequent in the history of the past. Indeed such accidents have preserved or have revealed to the world no insignificant proportion of its now acknowledged masterpieces.

The books of the Bible themselves have experienced the narrowest escapes from what might have resulted in their total loss. The most notable example is that of Deuteronomy, which disappeared from the Jewish world for over a century. The story of its rediscovery by the high priest Heshkiah during the reign of good King Josiah is set forth in the Old Testament.

Shakespeare was practically forgotten in the days when Addison wrote his "Account of the Greatest English Poets," with never a mention of the name of the very greatest, yet it was shortly afterward that Shakespeare was resurrected.

Fitzgerald's "Omar Khayyam" and Blackmore's "Lorna Doone" dropped stillborn from the press and later won a sudden popularity by accident.—William S. Walsh in Era Magazine.

Patience With Eccentricities.

Many of the leading people in English society regarded Thomas Carlyle with a feeling almost akin to reverent delight when he chose to behave like an ignorant boor in their drawing rooms, even taking his seat, it is said, unbidden in the presence of the queen. This generation, however, has little patience with such eccentricities.

It was an English Bishop who, when the historian Freeman had worn out his patience with his rudeness, introduced him to a waiting audience as "the distinguished scholar that so admirably describes and illustrates the savagery of our ancestors."

Treating Burns.

Cold water with ice in it is the thing to use when an accidental burn from acids or alkalis is encountered. Nitric acid gets split at times, or even vitriol may. A limb burned with acids must be plunged in cold water and kept there, so that the water may dilute the traces of the acid in the skin as much as possible. When acid burning causes injury, the water should be rendered alkaline by adding soda to counteract the acid.

Botanical Note.

A fern in a jardiniere and two little sprouts in tin cans if put in a window are sufficient to give the woman who owns them the right to use the word "fernery."—Atchison Globe.

Some men are like telescopes—you draw them out, see through them and then shut them up.

LEGISLATION FOR GRANGERS

What They Would Like According to the Report Made to the National Body.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 18.—The committee on legislation reported yesterday to the national grange, which is in annual session here. The report favors extension of the rural mail system; postal savings banks; early completion of the Nicaragua canal; the building of a canal to connect the Mississippi, great lakes and Atlantic; the election of United States senators by popular vote; improved pure food laws.

Next it demands a constitutional amendment giving congress the power to regulate and control all corporations and combinations of capital of a monopolistic nature, thus preventing the use of their corporate power to restrain trade or arbitrarily fix prices; additional powers for the interstate commerce commission. The passage of the ship subsidy bill is opposed. The report of Grand Lecturer Bachelder favors the teaching of agriculture in rural schools.

CHARGES AGAINST GOMPERS

Dispute Over the Amalgamated Strike
Gets Into Business.

New Orleans, Nov. 18.—The dispute over the strike of the Amalgamated Association in 1901, which the association lost, cropped up in the Federation of Labor national convention yesterday in the shape of charges made by President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated, against Gompers to the effect that he had refused to lend a helping hand to the strikers, and had neglected business which he had undertaken for the benefit of the strikers, such as interviewing J. Pierpont Morgan on their behalf.

The charges are printed in a circular and they were printed at length in these dispatches when they first came out last fall. Gompers yesterday left the chair and moved the appointment of a committee to investigate the matter and put the blame where it belongs. He says the charges cannot be proved because they are false. The committee was appointed.

MICHIGAN BEATS CHICAGO

Score of Foot Ball Between the Universities Is 21 to 0—Northwestern Beats Detroit.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Michigan, 21; Chicago 0—this was the result of Saturday's struggle between the rival universities, but tells nothing of the desperation and heroism of Chicago's defense. The visitors made but one touchdown by straight foot ball. Ten points came straight from Right End Sweeley, who out of six attempts made two goals from field; a third touchdown was delivered by Left Half Heston, who plunged seventy-five yards down the field unmolested by a local player. Ten thousand people saw the game.

For the first time in four years the Northwestern university foot ball team succeeded in defeating Detroit college. The score was 10 to 0.

Fatal Runaway Accident.

Philadelphia, Nov. 18.—In a runaway accident caused by an automobile at the falls of the Schuylkill one man, the driver, was instantly killed and the other five occupants of the carriage were thrown out and sustained injuries. The man killed was William Foster, 50 years old. He was thrown from the carriage head first upon a rock, fracturing his skull. Death was instantaneous.

Engineer and Brakeman Killed.

Bolivar, Pa., Nov. 18.—As a result of a rear-end collision of an extra freight train and a light running engine on the Pennsylvania railroad at this place two men were killed, one seriously injured and two engines demolished. The dead: Engineer H. S. Moore, Brakeman L. V. Dierman. The injured man was W. L. Mock, a fireman. The wreck delayed east-bound traffic several hours.

Dies in the Electric Chair.

Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 18.—John Truck was put to death in the electric chair in the state prison here for the murder of Frank W. Miller at Virgil, Cortland county, March 14, 1899. Truck met his fate calmly and five minutes after the witnesses had assembled in the death chamber he was pronounced dead. The motive for the murder of Miller was robbery.

Rome, Nov. 18.—The pope has signed the brief appointing Mgr. Sbarretti apostolic delegate in Canada.

MARKETING CELERY.

Preparing the Plants From the Rows,
the Trenches or the Storehouse.

During the early part of the season, or until the time for heavy frosts, marketing of celery will be done entirely from the rows where the crop is grown, later from the trenches and afterward from the storehouse. In preparing the celery for market from the rows where grown, it is not necessary to remove the entire root from the earth, but it may be cut off just below the surface of the soil by means of a stiff knife. Remove the outside leaves and trim the root evenly, pack in boxes and load on the wagon for removal to the washing house. The blanching boards should not be removed until necessary, and the trimmed celery must not be allowed to lie exposed to the sun or wind for any length of time. It is well also to have a piece of canvas to protect the celery while it is on the wagon being transported to the washing house. In marketing from the trenches the process is practically the same as from the rows, except that the celery is already loosened from the soil and the roots can be removed more easily.

In the Washroom.

Upon reaching the washing room the celery is immediately placed upon a rack consisting of wooden slats over a large trough and subjected to a spray of cold water to cool it and to remove the soil. After washing it is allowed to drain; then it is tied in bunches of twelve or more plants each, according to the size. The bunches are packed six in a box for first grade and eight or nine for second or third grade. These boxes should be practically airtight, and a lining of paper should be placed in them before packing the celery, or each bunch should be wrapped separately. The celery should be nearly dry before it is placed in the boxes and throughout the entire handling must be kept as cool as possible. The washhouse and its surroundings should be kept clean and free from any decomposing materials.

Shipping in the Rough.

Several of the larger eastern growers now follow the plan of shipping in the rough. By this method only about two-thirds as many bunches can be placed in a car, but the expense of loading is greatly reduced. The celery is lifted from the field, a few of the outer leaves are pulled off and the root is trimmed roughly, after which the plants are tied in bunches of twelve to fourteen each by means of common binder twine. These bunches are loaded upon a low wagon and hurried to the car before the celery has had time to become wilted.—W. R. Beattie.

CURING HAMS.

Good Old Fashioned Ways of Making Tasty Meats.

It is none too early to be acquiring any information that may be useful in "hog killing" time. The following directions are therefore reproduced from the Farm Journal, which believes them to be "the best rules for pork."

Hams and shoulders should be cured as soon as possible after the meat is cold all through. Place them on a board or table in the cellar, skin side down. Make a mixture in this proportion: For every hundred pounds of meat take four pounds of the best fine salt, two ounces of powdered saltpeter and four ounces of brown sugar. Rub this well into the hams all over and push some into the hock end around the bone. Rub until they will take no more; let them lie on the board and in a week rub in the rest. Let them lie for about sixteen days altogether; then hang them up by a string through the hock in a cool, dark smokehouse.

Smoking and Wrapping.

Keep up a good smoke from hickory chips smothered with sawdust during the day for two or three days. Keep in a cool place and before spring examine to see that no insects have deposited eggs. Dust a little cayenne pepper around the bone, wrap closely in brown paper, then with coarse muslin to fit the ham exactly and stitch tightly. Give a coat of whitewash or of chrome yellow and hang in a cool, dark, dry place.

Curing in Pickle.

For curing them in pickle, which some prefer, though we do not, to a gallon of water take a pound and a half of salt, half a pound of sugar and half an ounce each of saltpeter and potash. In this ratio the pickle can be increased to enough to cover any amount of pork. Boil together until all dirt rises to the top and is skimmed off. When cold, pour it over the hams or pork, which may be pickled in this way. The meat must be well covered by it and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with saltpeter, which removes all the surface blood, leaving the meat fresh and clean.

Lime, an Indirect Fertilizer.

Lime is not a commercial fertilizer in the strict sense, but an indirect fertilizer, which all farmers ought to be familiar with and use. Our farmers use lime about once in five years. They use it for two reasons—first, because they want it to act upon the insoluble plant food and make it available, and in the second place it is good for sour land, land that has been farmed a good while and an acid has developed. Ten or twenty bushels of lime per acre will neutralize the acid. Sometimes clover does not grow well, and farmers say it probably needs lime.—Professor E. B. Voorhees, New Jersey.

The Cellar Windows.

Do not forget the cellar windows. Tarred paper nailed over the outside of the windows will help to keep out the cold. Double glass in the cellar windows is also effective. Straw is handy. Fill in with that against the outside of the windows.

FLAGS ON THE CAPITOL.

What It Means When They Are Flying at Half Mast.

The flying of flags over the capitol at half mast is regulated by the strictest rules. Whenever these flags are seen floating half way down the mast it is a sure indication that a vice president, senator or representative is lying dead or that the action is taken in response to a presidential proclamation ordering the flags on public buildings at half mast in respect to the memory of some prominent official of the government who has passed away.

When the sergeant at arms of the senate or house of representatives learns of the death of a member of either of those bodies, he at once orders that the flags over the senate chamber or hall of representatives be half masted. This is often done before the houses of congress themselves are officially notified of the death. A good deal of discretion is exercised in the manner of placing the news of a death of this kind officially before the senate or the house. Upon such an announcement it is customary for the houses to adjourn in respect to the deceased senator or representative, and in order that the current business may not be stopped early in the day the announcement is generally made just before the houses are ready to conclude their day's work.

Officers of the senate and house when they fly the flags at half mast in response to a proclamation by the president regard their action as one of courtesy, as they do not recognize the power of the president to order congress to do anything except to assemble in extraordinary session. They have always responded to the requests of such proclamations. It would be a nice question, if one could imagine that it could ever be raised, to know to what extent the president's authority would allow him to order flags at half mast on the capitol. While his authority would not extend over the employees of the senate and house, yet the capitol itself for many years was in fact controlled exclusively by him so far as the care of the building is concerned, and the superintendent of the building is today appointed by him without confirmatory action on the part of the senate.

As a matter of fact, the capitol has for years been under the direct control of the committees on appropriations of the two houses of congress, but that control has been accorded them by the failure of the president to give any orders to the architect or more lately to the superintendent of the capitol. If he should order that official to fly flags over the capitol at half mast and the order should be disobeyed, he would have power to dismiss him and appoint some one else in his place without the concurrence of either branch of congress, except so far as the appropriation for the official's salary would be involved. These are practically moot questions, but they occasionally form interesting subjects for fireside talks when flags are half masted in response to presidential proclamations.—Washington Star.

Thumb Nail Pictures.

In collections, centuries old, to be seen in both China and Japan are specimens of the most remarkable drawings in the world, pictures of all kinds drawn with the thumb nail. The nails of the thumbs on the left hands of the artists of these are allowed to grow to an enormous length, sometimes to a foot or eighteen inches, and are then pared down to a pen shaped point. Dipping this oddly constructed pen in beautiful vermilion or sky blue ink, the only kinds of ink used in these sacred thumb nail drawings, the artist gracefully outlines his work.

Occasionally the bold touches from the studio of a master in this department of "high art" are life size and are sketched by a few sweeps of the artist's arm. Like other pictures and sketches of the orient, these sacred thumb nail pictures are mounted and rolled up like scrolls.

Some Words.

According to the late Richard A. Eroctor, says the London Chronicle, the phrase "I guess," to English ears so ridiculous, is really identical with the old expression, "I wis," meaning "I know." The word "guess" has changed its meaning entirely in England, but has partly preserved it in America, where of course the native says "I guess" when he is more or less in a state of uncertainty. There are many other examples of words that have played fast and loose with "g" and "w," such as "guardian" and "warden," "guard" and "ward," "guichet" and "wicket."

A Conscience Jar.

"Did you ever stop to think, my love," said Mr. Micawber, gazing at his plate of lobster salad, "that the things we love most in this life are the very things that never agree with us?" "Will you be so kind, Micawber," said Mrs. Micawber, straightening up, "as to tell me whether you are speaking of the salad or of me, sir?"

DR. Mc DONALD has for years made a study and specialty of chronic and lingering diseases that require skillful medical treatment for their cure. Such cases as family physicians fail to help and pronounce incurable are particularly solicited, especially those overdone with strong mineral drugs and poisons. Dr. McDonald uses only the purest medicines from the vegetable kingdom. He pays attention to the cause of the disease and instructs his patients the way to health and happiness. Dr. McDonald can show hundreds of testimonials in the handwriting of grateful patients who have been cured by him when others failed. He is so familiar with the human system that he is able to read all diseases of the mind or body correctly at a glance without asking any questions. Thousands of invalids are being treated daily for diseases they do not have while a few drops of medicine directed to the seat of the disease would give speedy relief, and permanent cure in a very short time. Good health is the most precious jewel in our crown of happiness. With it the world is bright; without it misery claims us for her own. If you are a sufferer you should weigh well these words: A person who neglects his health is guilty of a great wrong to himself and a grave injury to humanity. The name of Dr. McDonald, the well-known specialist in the cure of chronic and lingering diseases, has become a household word in thousands of homes where his skill and wonderful remedies have made happy by restoring dear ones to health after all hopes were lost. The doctor is a graduate of the highest and best medical colleges, and his advanced theories in the treatment of chronic diseases surprise the most skeptical. All chronic diseases of the
